STRIKE CONDITIONS SEEN BY MINISTER

Inquiries in Many Fields Cause Clergyman to Believe Strikebreaking Methods Demoralizing.

Garbed in the overalls of a day laborer, Rev. Albert H. Zimmermann, organizer of Helpers from the Hills, an organization that, has rendered signal services in this city in securing employment for men seeking work, and editor of the Associated Church Press, during the last several weeks has made a study of the industrial situation as it relates to the strike of the railroad shopmen.

While on tour in the Chautauqua field at Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Covington, Ky.; Cumberland, Md.; Baltimore, Philadelphia, Clifton Md.; Baltimore, Philadelphia, Clifton Forge, Va.; Charles Town, W. Va., and other points where there are big railroad terminals and machine shops, he has made a personal investigation. entering the forbidden estiles for than the so-called "good old days." entering the forbidden strike zone under the camouflage of a strikebreaker and actually working at each point for a day or two.

Men Poorly Equipped.

The points where he has worked in this capacity are tapped by many of the southern and eastern railroad systems. He says that the men who are manning the yards and shops as strikebreakers, in place of the as strikebreakers, in place of the striking shopmen, are demoralized and inefficient, and that the men in large measure employed are not equipped to do the work of machinists or the other duties of shopmen or yardmen.

"I joined a party of fifty men in this city to take the places of the striking railroad shopmen. The men are sent to all points where most needed. The compensation offered for machinists is 70 cents an hour, ten hours' pay for eight hours' work, and time and a half for overtime, free board, lodging, tobacco, movies and other amusements, which are provided in the 'strikebreakers' compensation's provided to the strikebreakers' compensation of the strikebrea provided in the 'strikebreakers' com-

There is a bonus of $1 for tht first fifteen days and $2 from that on until the strike is ended, with priority rights for all strikebreakers. When you sign up for work the agents never take the trouble to ask if you are a machinist or know anything of railroad work. The cheap lodging houses in the big cities are deserted. These fellows are reaping a rich harvest. to join in efforts of governors of other states to bring about the signing of some sort of an agreement which will start production of coal. Indiana operators have definitely informed Gov. McCray that they will not participate in the Cleveland meeting. Repeated requests from Gov. McCray for the operators to join in the conference have been refused. Work at Staunton, Ind., where the state is providing protection of the Indiana National Guard for the operation of two strip mines, is being Indiana National Guard for the operation of two strip mines, is being rushed under orders from Gov. McCray. Mining of coal will be continued all day Sunday without any interruption, the governor said. Expert steam shovel operators, who have been badly needed at Staunton, are on their way to the coal fields, it was said.

TWO PLANS HELD OUT.

Anthracite Owners for Arbitration or Separate Negotiations.

PHILADELPHIA, August 12.—The anthracite operators, through S. D. Warriner, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, and head of the coal operators' wage scale committee, today gave out correspondence with commercial bodies in that in the meantime mining should be resumed.

To the Rotary Club, Mr. Warriner replied, in part:

"It is self-evident that if two parties after honest effort fail to agree the differences between them must be settled by some one else, and to this end arbitration is conceded to be the fairest and most satisfactory method of settlement.

"The anthracite operators believe and insist that the controversies in the anthracite field should be settled separately and distinctly from those existing in the bituminous fields."

Pennsylvania Commission, However, Fixes Brokerage Rates.

PHILADELPHIA, August 12.—The Pennsylvania fuel commission today fixed a brokerage charge of 25 cents a ton on bituminous coal between the mines and the retailers, but were unable to reach an agreement on the basic price of the fuel at the mines, according to announcement following the second meeting here of the commission.

This phase will be taken up Tuesday at Harrisburg, at a meeting of the commissioners and a committee of bituminous operators named as an advisory body.

The Carnegie Steel Company will only operate one plant with coal, the by-product coke industry at Clairton, Pa. This plant is connected with the great mills at Duquesne and Homestead by a forty-eight-inch pipe, and through it as much gas as Clairton can produce will be sent to keep them in operation. Natural gas, it was stated, would be used by some independent companies in an effort to keep working. No estimate of the number of men who would be forced into idleness was available.

Former Mayor A. Ellis of Ottawa will be the controller for Ontario. Meanwhile the Dominion government is putting forth every effort to secure from the United States the quota of coal normally coming from that country. Much correspondence is passing between Ottawa and Washington. Sir Burton Chadwick, a widely known coal magnate from London and Liverpool, has been here conferring with Ottawa officials relative to shipping British coal to Canada.

"I firmly believe," he said, "that the "I firmly believe," he said, "that the Canadian coal situation is going to be serious even should the strike in the states end at once. The United States will be served first, then the larger Canadian centers will receive their quota and the smaller places will come last. I hardly see how the Dominion will face the situation without receiving coal from the British Isles."

in New York. The belief was expressed by many that his passing had taken from Ireland one of its greatest fighters for freedom and from the Free State government one of its most courageous leaders. Advocates of both the republican and Free State movements joined in expressing sorrow at Griffith's demise. They declared that his teachings and his works had inspired all Irish leaders and that they would carry on for him. Men who were intimate with Griffith before the birth of the Sinn Fein recalled some of the interesting chapters of his life. For many years he with Sir Roger Casement, it is said had it not been for the fact that he was considered "a mental Sinn Feiner" and did not publicly advocate physical force. He believed in the printing press rather than the machine gun.

Griffith was taken into custody after the arrest of Casement and the physical force advocates who had a part in the Sackville street affair. He was tried, and the military court, though it was not proven that he had any actual part in the rebellion ordered his deportation to England for one year.

Griffith was known as a man who never lost his temper. An anecdote illustrative of this trait was related recently by James Stephens, Irish novelist and poet.

Knocked Out Thug.

One evening, so the story goes, Stephens and Griffith had dined in the little restaurant in Dublin in extraordinary session of the legislature will be convened during the week of August 21, it was announced at the executive chamber today, to enact legislation intended to conserve and regulate the distribution of supplies of coal within New York state.

At this point two rowdies darted from the shadows. One of them deliberately bumped into Griffith, knocking off his hat. Griffith never said a word! He picked up his hat and put it on again. The rowdy knocked it off the second time and uttered an insult. Still Griffith held his tongue. He removed his eyeglasses, tucked them in a pocket and then, as the rowdy came back the third time, struck him squarely on the chin, sending him sprawling in the gutter.

Griffith then placed his glasses on his nose and, as if there had been no interruption to his story, added:

"Cleaned up ten thousand pounds in a single week."

SEES FREE STATE'S END.

TARIFF TO PASS SENATE SATURDAY UNDER VOTE PLAN

(Continued from First Page.) neasure out within a few weeks and obtain final action on it by the Senate and House before Congress goes home in advance of the fall election campaigns.

Appointment of the Senate conferees on the bill is awaited with great interest at the Capitol. The rule heretofore has been that the SERIOUS SHORTAGE SEEN three ranking republicans and the two ranking democrats on the finance ommittee were named to represent the Senate, but since Senator La Foi lette of Wisconsin, who has opposed the tariff bill, is the third ranking republican, there has been speculation as to whether he would be ap pointed.

Dendlock Might Follow.

Should Mr. La Foliette he appointed and oppose the final draft of the measure in conference the conferees might be deadlocked, five to five, with the result that a conference report could not be agreed to. In Capitol gossip yesterday Senator Dillingham of Vermont was mentioned as the probable appointee in place of Senator La Follette, who now is campaigning in his home state.

With the tariff out of the way, the Senate next will be faced by the soldiers' bonus bill. Senator Mcumber plans to call this up the week after the tariff measure is passed, but since his time must be given to the conference work on the tariff he will leave the piloting of the bonus n the Senate to some other member in the Senate to some other member of the finance committee.

Before agreeing yesterday for a final vote, the Senate made rapid progress in the consideration of committee amendments to the sundries schedule. Only three fights developed, revolving around the 70 per cent ad valorem duty on toys, which was approved, and the duties on ivory tusks and asbestos. Senators Wadsworth of New York and New of Indiana, republicans, led a success-Indiana, republicans, led a success-ful fight against the committee rate of 10 per cent on ivory, the Senate voting, 34 to 17, to place the com-modity on the free list.

Crude Asbestos Left Free. Duties of 30 per cent on asbestos arns and woven fabrics and 25 per ent on other asbestos manufactures ejected an amendment to continue direct negotiations with the United Mine Workers on the basis of the old wage scale and demands of the Shamokin convention."

The Shamokin convention of last January made nineteen demands, of which an increase of 20 per cent in wages was one.

The Scranton (Pa.) Board of Trade and the Tamaqua (Pa.) Rotary Club passed identical resolutions to the effect that if a direct and immediate settlement is not arrived at arbitration should be at once invoked, and that in the meantime mining should be resumed.

To the Rotary Club, Mr. Warriner replied, in part:

"It is self-evident that if two parties after honest effort fail to agree the differences between them must be settled by some one else, and to this end arbitration is conceded to be the fairnest and most satisfactory method of settlement."

"The anthracite field should be settled seen and insist that the controversies in the anthracite field should be settled spearately and distinctly from those existing in the bituminous fields."

Treation for the Rotary Club, Mr. Warriner replied, in part:

"It is self-evident that if two parties after honest effort fail to agree the differences between them must be settled by some one else, and to this end arbitration is conceded to be the fairnest and most satisfactory method of settlement.

COAL PRODUCTION BIG, DESPITE STRIKE

Geological Survey Reports Decided Increase August 7-12, Inclusive.

The nineteenth week of the nation wide coal strike, the week August 7-12, inclusive, opened with a decided increase in production, the geological survey announced yesterday. Returns so far received, the survey ere approved after the Senate had said, indicate an output of soft coal the present duties of 20 and 10 per cent, respectively. Also it rejected an amendment to make crude asbestos ore dutiable at 20 per cent, leaving that commodity on the free of about 4,860,000 net tons, or 500,000 leaving that commodity on the free list.

The tariff on asbestos products occupied the Senate for several hours, despite the 15-minute limitation on debate. First the Senate rejected, 40 to 16, an amendment by Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, to remove crude asbestos from the free list and make it dutiable at 20 per cent ad valorem. Then followed the fight over duties on manufactures of asbestos.

Senators Reed of Missouri and Simmons of North Carolina, democrats, charged and Senator Freling-huysen, republican, New Jersey, defined that the Johns-Manville Asbestos Company had a monopoly of the manufacturing business in this country.
